Answer:

The farmer and his wife were kind people. They loved their dog as if it were their child and pampered him with blue crape cushion to sleep and fish-rice meal to eat. The old man on his way to the fields let the white heron that followed his pick worms and often turned up a sod on purpose to give food to the birds.

Answer:

The dog put his paw against the farmer's leg and motioned him with his head to the spot behind. On being ignored, the dog kept on whining and running to and fro until the farmer followed him.

3.

(A) How did the spirit of the dog help the farmer first?

Answer:

The spirit of the dog appeared in the farmer's dream and asked him to cut down the pine tree over his grave and make a mortar and a mill out of it. On using the mortar to pound rice and the mill to make bean sauce, the food turned into gold.

(B) How did it help him next?

Answer:

When the magical mortar and mill were destroyed by the greedy neighbours, the spirit of the dog appeared in the dream of the kind farmer again and asked him to sprinkle the ashes of the burned magic wood on withered trees which would bloom again.

4. Why did the daimio reward the farmer but punish the neighbour for the same act?

Answer:

Working with the Language

Anil is in school. I am in school too. Anil is sitting in the left row. He is reading a book. Anil's friend is sitting in the second row. He is sharpening his pencil. The teacher is writing on the blackboard. Children are writing in their copybooks. Some children are looking out of the window.

Answer:

Where is Anil? (question of location)

Where is Anil sitting? (question of position in context of the sitting arrangement)

What is he doing? (question of action)

Where were some children looking? (question of direction)

2. Write appropriate question words in the blank spaces in the following dialogue.

Sheela: Because she has lost her doll.

Neha: _____ Room is this, yours or hers?

Sheela: It's ours.

Neha: _____ do you go to school?

Sheela: We walk to school. It is nearby.

Answer:

Neha: When Did you get this book?

Sheela: Yesterday morning.

The response 'Yesterday morning' denotes a point of time, thus the appropriate question word here is 'When' which is used to enquire about the time of action.

Neha: Why is your sister crying?

Sheela: Because she has lost her doll.

The response phrase begins with the word 'because' stating the reason, thus the appropriate question word here is 'Why' which is used to enquire about reason of the action.

Neha: Whose Room is this, yours or hers?

Sheela: It's ours.

The response phrase ‘it is ours’ denotes possessiveness, thus the appropriate question word here is ‘Whose’ which is used to enquire about the relation of the object to the subject.

Neha: How do you go to school?

Sheela: We walk to school. It is nearby.

The response ‘We walked’ denotes manner, thus the appropriate question word here is ‘How’ which is used to enquire about the manner of the action.

Speaking and Writing

1. Do you remember an anecdote or a story about a greedy or jealous person and the unhappy result of his/her action? Narrate the story to others in your class. Here is one for you to read.

Seeing an old man planting a fig tree, the king asked why he was doing this. The man replied that he might live to eat the fruit, and, even if he did not, his son would enjoy the figs. "Well," said the king, "if you do live to eat the fruit of this tree, please let me know." The man promised to do so, and sure enough, before too long, the tree grew and bore fruit. Packing some fine figs in a basket, the old man set out for the palace to meet the king. The king accepted the gift and gave orders that the old man's basket be filled with gold. Now, next door to the old man, there lived a greedy old man jealous of his neighbour's good fortune. He also packed some figs in a basket and took them to the palace in the hope of getting gold. The king, on learning the man's motive, ordered him to stand in the compound and had him pelted with figs. The old man returned home and told his wife the sad story. She consoled him by saying, "You should be thankful that our neighbour did not grow coconuts."

Answer:

Once upon a time, there was an old maid who lived on a farm alone. She had a hen which gave a dozen eggs every day. The old maid sold the eggs in the village to buy bread and butter. One day the hen did not give any eggs. The old maid ate the left over bread and better from the previous night and managed to scrape through the day. On the second day, the hen still did not give any eggs. The old maid bought some milk from her neighbours and went to bed still hungry. On the third day when the hen still had not given any eggs, the old maid started crying. She was hungry and had no food or money left. A magician was passing by her farm and moved by her bitter cries stopped to ask why she was crying. On learning about the hen, the magician gave her some magic beans to feed the hen. The next day, the hen gave a golden egg. The old maid was overjoyed and sold the golden egg for a fortune. The next morning, the hen gave another golden egg which the old maid again sold for a large sum of money. It went on for a week and the village was talking about the good fortune of the old maid. Some people said the hen had stored a hundred golden eggs in her stomach. Scared that somebody might steal her hen, the old maid killed the hen to take out the hundred golden eggs in one go for herself. On tearing open its stomach, the old maid found no golden eggs in the hen and cried tears of sorrow.

Answer:

(Nancy Drew notebooks)

Last month I borrowed ‘The Secret of the Old Clock’ by Carolyn Keene from the school library to read over the weekend. The book is first in the series of Nancy Drew mystery stories. The lead character of in the story was named Nancy Drew who was an amateur detective and solved mysterious case in her hometown River Heights with her best friends Bess Marvin and George Fayne who were cousins. Bess was chirpy and George like her boyish name was tom boy. Together, the three girls were a good team of sleuths. I liked Nancy the best because of her balanced demeanour, while Bess would get anxious and George would angry on reflex, Nancy would stay calm and think straight even in the face of danger. Nancy is home from college and meets the Turners who had come to her father, Carson Drew who was a reputed attorney, for legal help to claim their family fortune following the death of their more prosperous relative Josiah Crowley. She overhears somebody in the departmental store talk about a missing heirloom, an old family clock which was worth a lot of money. Nancy decides to help the Turners by finding the clock. She, along with Bess and George, interviews family friends of the old Crowley trying to put together the facts about the clock and the night that it went missing. She learns that the clock might be hidden in the abandoned summer house of the nasty Tophams, the rival family to stake claims to the Crowley’s legacy. The house was old, far from the city and abandoned because it was rumoured to be haunted. On reaching the summer house, she finds a bunch of local thugs occupying the place that had started the rumour, complete with spooky tricks, to keep people away from the deserted house but had no idea about the old clock. She is overpowered by burglars who lock her in the empty house and desert the hideout. She finds the clock in the attic and managed to slip away. She reports the thugs to the police and returns the clock to the grateful Turners. It was found that the clock was a nothing but a rotting piece of wood with antique carving that did not value much but just when everybody in the room is about to give up hope, Nancy discovers a secret compartment in the clock that contained Crowley's original will which declared the Turners as his true heirs, thus making them millionaires overnight.
